

Here is our latest model

..and how do I add the structural properties?

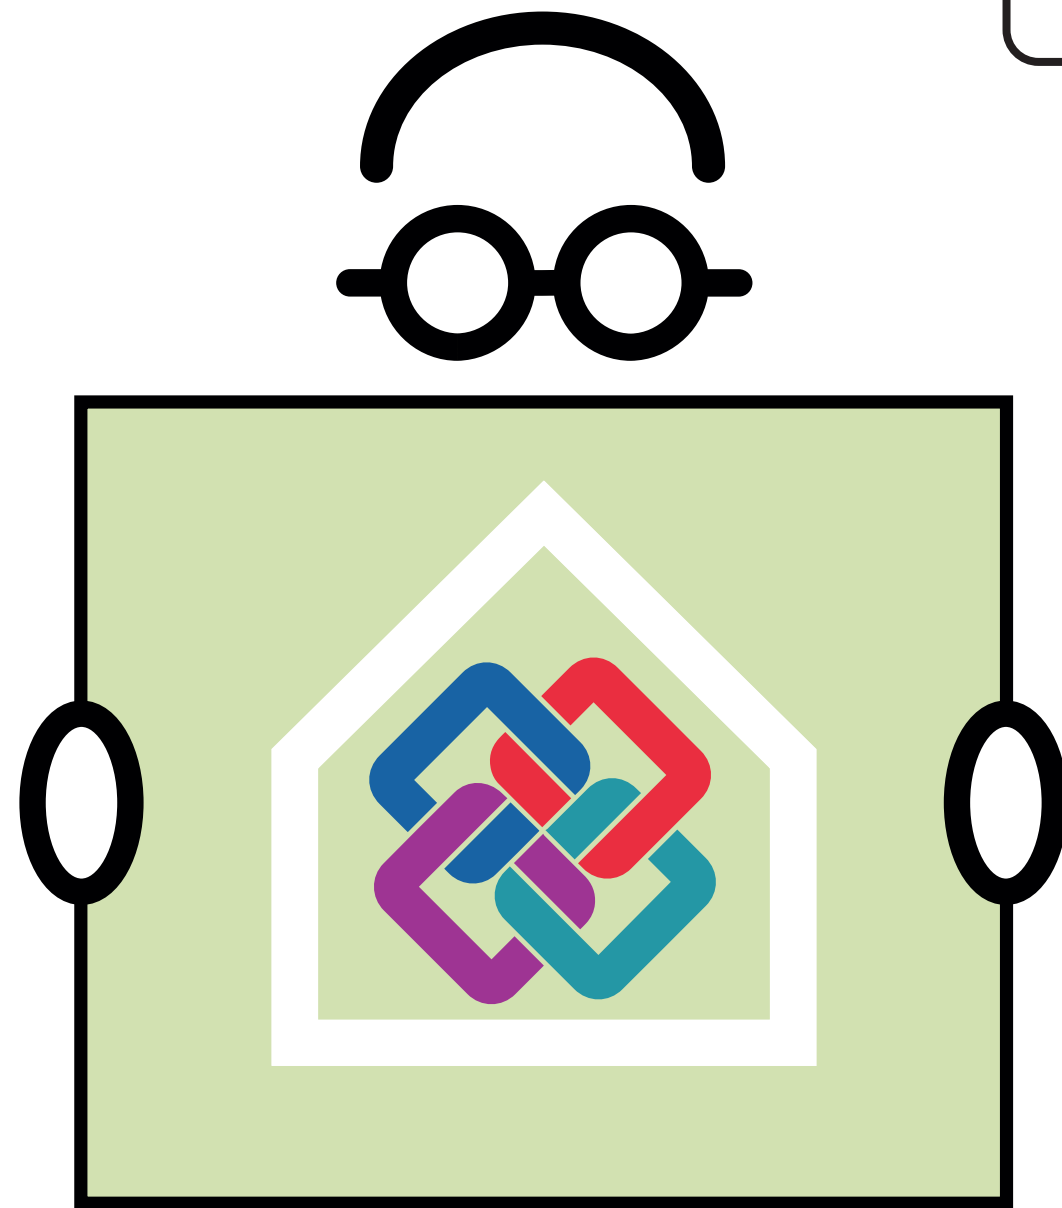

*Great!
So how do I add thermal properties to the walls?*

Well, you just build a new model in your own software and place mine in the same coordinate system

Then it's really easy for you to see when I make changes

Why can't we just use your geometry and then extend from that?!

